

INSTITUTIONAL REFORMS - TRANSFORMING INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION

In an increasingly globalized and borderless world, disputing parties need to be prepared for arbitration claims administered by arbitral institutions located within or outside their home jurisdictions. There is no better way to effectively defend or plan your case than staying updated on changes made by the prominent institutions to their Rules.

As a commitment to capacity-building for the ADR community, the Vietnam Academy for Arbitration – VAARB and the CIARB Vietnam Chapter are pleased to present you an unparalleled opportunity to meet and join in an interactive roundtable discussion with Gary Born (President of the SIAC Court of Arbitration), Paula Hodges QC (President of the LCIA Court), Prof Hi-Taek Shin (Chairman of KCAB INTERNATIONAL) and Sarah Grimmer (Secretary General of HKIAC). The distinguished speakers will discuss the ongoing reforms & initiatives at the respective institutions that contribute to the development and evolution of international arbitration and directly impact the arbitral process for disputing parties.

Areas to be discussed include:

- Appointment of arbitrators and challenges to jurisdiction and/or an arbitrator's impartiality;
- Diversifying the pool of arbitrators;
- Party autonomy and the powers of the tribunal;
- Cost effectiveness vis-à-vis due process paranoia;
- Quality control: review and scrutiny of arbitral awards and support provided to the tribunal in the entire proceedings;
- Virtual hearings protocols;
- Further reforms to make arbitration services more accessible, affordable and user-friendly
- Collaboration and joint initiatives with other institutions

The insights and observation from the leaders of prominent arbitral institutions on cases administered by their respective institutions will be most beneficial not only to the ADR community in Vietnam but also to practitioners elsewhere.

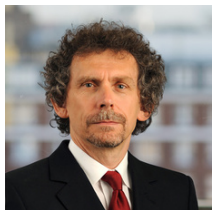

This opportunity is too good to be missed!
